

Not many people know that broccoll grows in the armpits of very big green men who live in the forest and brave broccoll cutters go deep into the forests and they creep up on the very big green men.

