

CROATIA

Croatia is in Central Europe. Croatia was part of a larger country called Yugoslavia until 1991. Its main cities include Split, Dubrovnik and the capital city of Zagreb. Croatia is one of the smallest counties of Europe, with the 30th largest population of 4.1 million people. Most of Croatia has hot, dry summers and cool, wet winters. This climate makes it ideal for growing wheat, olives, potatoes and grapes to make wine. Croatia's coastline makes it an ideal tourist destination. In ancient times, Croatia was part of the Roman Empire.
