

Lesson 1: What does a Hindu temple look like?

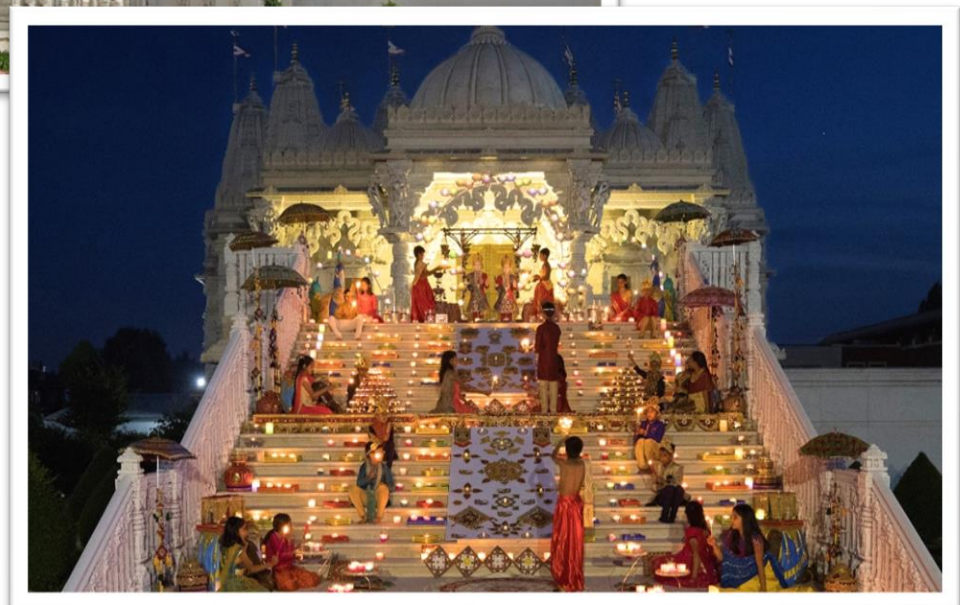

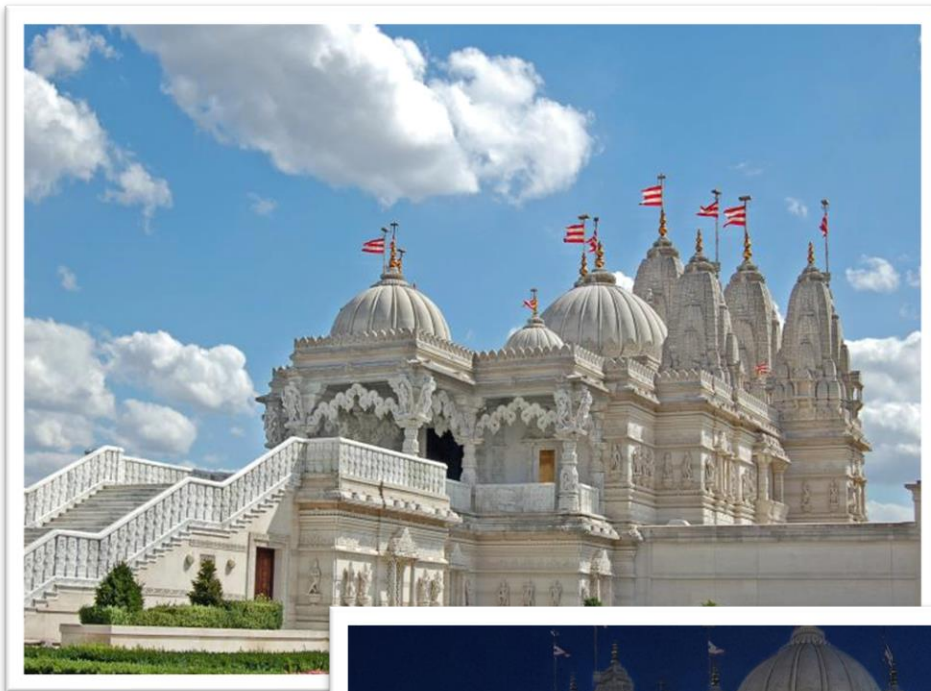

This half-term we are going to return to our study of the religion of Hinduism.

We are going to focus on the practices of Hinduism – how Hindus worship, which places are important to them and which festivals they celebrate.

Today we are going to learn about what a Hindu temple looks like, these are sometimes called mandirs.

There is a large Hindu population in London so there are many temples.

The most impressive of these is the Neasden Temple – it was built in 1995 and is the biggest Hindu temple outside of India.

As you watch the video you can use this page to make notes on what the Hindu temple looks like and what happens inside it.

What happens inside the temple?

What did you notice about what the temple looks like?

Remember to include a quick sketch of any interesting features.